First nationwide safety task force will help employers prioritize worker safety in a post-pandemic world

Itasca, IL (April 24, 2020) — Today, Captive Resources, LLC announced it will join the National Safety Council (NSC) task force to support the SAFER: Safe Actions for Employee Returns initiative — a comprehensive, multifaceted plan developed to guide employers through the process of safely resuming traditional work and operations now and in a post-pandemic environment.

In partnership with NSC, the nation's leading nonprofit safety advocate, Captive Resources joins an extensive list of Fortune 500 companies, leading safety organizations and public health professionals and experts to prioritize worker safety and navigate the changed work environment.

"With SAFER, we are bringing the best minds together to ensure Americans have the safest transition back to work possible," said Lorraine M. Martin, president and CEO of the National Safety Council. "We are thrilled to have the partnership of Captive Resources to help us on our mission to make workplaces safer."

Led by NSC, SAFER will issue recommendations and guidance for employers, including small and mid-size companies, across a variety of industries. From best practices to data-driven recommendations, the task force will provide employers the tools and solutions they need to act in complicated and challenging times, with simple, practical implementation resources.

"We know that businesses will be ramping back up and we have been contacted by many companies asking how they can do it safely," said Andy Johnson, Chief Risk Officer of Captive Resources. "We're excited to be partnering with the NSC to help provide quality, timely guidance to group captive member companies."
